

John Lewis

Proposals for printing by subscription the History and antiquities of the church and abby of Faversham

n.p. [Canterbury]

n.d. [1727?]

PROPOSALS

For PRINTING by SUBSCRIPTION the
HISTORY and ANTIQUITIES
OF THE

Church and Abby of Faversham,
THE

Priory of Davington, and Maison-Dieu of Ospringe, in KENT:

To which will be added, a Collection of the Ancient Funeral Monuments in the Neighbouring Churches of Preston, Shelwich, Graveney, Bocton, &c.

By JOHN LEWIS, A. M.

- I. THE Book shall be Printed in a large Quarto, on the same Paper and Letter with the Specimen annext.
- II. There shall be Plates representing the present State of the Abby and Habits of the Religious here treated of, with other Decorations.
- III. The Price to Subscribers is 7s. 6d. of which three Shillings to be paid down, the remainder at the Delivery of a perfect Book in Sheets.
- IV. The Plates being Engraven, and the Copy ready for the Press, the Book shall be finished with all convenient Speed, as soon as there is a sufficient Number of Subscriptions to defray the Charge.

Subscriptions are taken at the Printing Office and Booksellers in Canterbury, by Mr. Wilkins in St. Paul's Church-Yard, and Messieurs Page and Mount on Tower Hill, London.

<The book was published in 1727; this prospectus may be earlier than that. From the last paragraph it appears that the book was going to be printed by James Abree (occ. 1718–60), who had the only printing-office in Canterbury at the time. – C.F. September 2011.>